Durham Manufacturing's gas cylinder storage cabinets are designed and constructed in full compliance with OSHA and NFPA standards for the storage of gas cylinders only. All compressed gases must be used in accordance with OSHA regulations and the Compressed Gas Association's (CGA) Pamphlets which have been adopted by OSHA regulations by reference.

For proper storage, handling and maintenance of compressed gas cylinders, please consult Compressed Gas Association Pamphlet P-1 and U.S. Department of Labor, OSHA General Industry standard 29 CFR 1910.101 which adopts by reference the Compressed Gas Association's (CGA) Pamphlets C-6-1986, C-8-1962, and P-1-1965. The Compressed Gas Association has updated the three pamphlets cited by OSHA as C-6-1993, C-8-1997, and P-1-1999.

Compressed gases should only be handled by experienced and properly trained people. [CGA 3.4.1] Durham Manufacturing's gas cylinder storage cabinets are for the storage of gas cylinders only.
